West Nile Virus in Fulton County

The Fulton County Health Department has received word that a blue jay submitted from Fulton County has tested positive for West Nile Virus.

The health department would like to remind everyone of general steps that can be taken to prevent West Nile Virus:

- Avoid outdoor activities between dusk and dawn when most mosquitoes are active.
- Wear long sleeve shirts and long pants when outdoors.
- Use mosquito repellent that contains Deet and follow the directions on the label. Deet can be toxic if overused. Avoid repellents containing concentrations of Deet greater than 10% on children and 30% on adults.
- Fix holes in your screens and make sure they are tightly attached to all your windows and doors.

Mosquitoes always develop in water, but the type of breeding areas depends on the species of mosquito. Common breeding places are flood waters, ditches, pools and edges of the lake. Mosquitoes may also develop in tree cavities, old tires, birdbaths, and guttering -- in other words in anything that holds water. The extensive breeding of mosquitoes in such containers has often contributed to disease outbreaks. The entire life cycle of a mosquito may be completed in five to ten days.

The most effective control of disease carrying mosquitoes around the home is to prevent them from breeding. This can be done by eliminating or altering breeding sites as follows:

- Destroy or dispose of tin cans, old tires, or any other artificial water containers. If you can't dispose of tires before rainy weather arrives, drill holes in them so water won't stand in the tires. Smash tin cans or keep them in a covered trash container.
- Make weekly inspections of your outdoor flower containers. Do not let water stand in the saucer under clay pots and check the soil to make sure it is loosened to permit the water to penetrate the soil instead of forming a stagnant pool on the surface for mosquitoes to breed in.
- Change the water in your birdbath and wading pools once or twice a week. Drain wading pools when not in use.

Bible School at Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church, Kewanna, will hold a Vacation Bible School August 6 through 9. Registration will be from 6:15 to 6:30 Sunday evening, August 6. The nightly sessions will run from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Children ages 4-12 are welcome to attend.

The Ensminger Family from Princeton, Minnesota, will present the program entitled "Instruments for Praise" in conjunction with Dr. Mark Fishburn, a ventriloquist.

Parents are invited to attend the Wednesday, August 9, session, after which there will be an ice cream social.

Conservancy District to Hold Special Meeting

The Lake Bruce Conservancy District will hold a special meeting Friday, August 4, at 10 a.m. at the offices of its engineering firm, Wightman-Petri, 4703 Chester Dr., Elkhart. The agenda will include property acquisition and easements, and preliminary discussions of sewer ordinances.

The district will conduct its regular meeting and a budget hearing for the 2007 budget Thursday, August 10, at 7 p.m. in the community room of the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Station.

- Keep rain gutters unclogged and flat roofs dry.
- Drain and fill stagnant pools, puddles, and ditches or swampy places around the property and home.
- Keep margins of small ponds and lagoons clear of vegetation.
- Place tight fitting covers over septic tanks, rain barrels and tubs where water is stored. Be sure to have a working septic system. A failed septic system with standing sewage is an ideal breeding site for mosquitoes.
- Fill holes in trees with sand or drain them.

In addition to the control of breeding sites, it may be necessary to control adult mosquitoes that migrate from surrounding areas. The adults like to rest in vegetation. Therefore, do not allow weeds to grow uncontrolled near your home. Keep weeks mowed on nearby lots. Leave insecticide to trained personnel.

For more information, you can visit www.fulton.co.in.us or call the health department at 574-223-2881.

Do Not Call Law Upheld

Less than three months after hearing oral arguments in an appeal challenging Indiana's Do Not Call Law, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 7th Circuit has ruled that the law is constitutional.

"The privacy rights of those who choose to reduce telemarketing calls is in jeopardy each time a challenge and an appeal is filed against the law", Indiana Attorney General Steve Carter said. "The ruling is a great victory and after consistent legal successes in state and federal courts, we hope that telemarketers are beginning to understand that citizens have rights to protect themselves from unwanted sales calls."

The fourth quarter registration deadline for the Indiana Do Not Call registry is August 22. Numbers registered by midnight EDT will be placed on the October 1, 2006 list. Registration is available online at www.attorneygeneral.IN.gov or by calling 1-888-834-9969.

There are more than 1.7 million phone numbers registered on the list, protecting the residential privacy of more than 3.5 million Hoosiers.

Youth League Institutes Girls Softball

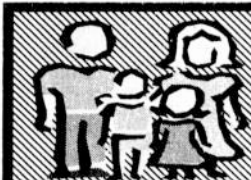

The Kewanna Youth League put together a girls softball team following the baseball season to see what kind of interest there might be in Kewanna. The girls played two practice games with the Fulton U11 All-Stars and did pretty well for beginners. There were anywhere from 8 to 14 girls at practice and there were several others who wanted to play, but already had plans for the two weeks involved.

The rules for softball are a little different than baseball, and that is what the team worked on, as well as pitching. The coach, Tana Garver, would like to take this opportunity to thank the girls for their hard work. Signup for next year begins in January and ends April 10. The teams need to be formed by April 20 for scheduling purposes. Mrs. Garver would also like to thank Janine Smith for all of her help.

Team members pictured here include, front row, left to right, Summer Garver, Hannah Miller, Kennedy Crissinger, and Hannah Tatman; and back row, Shelby Loeffler, assistant coach, Kate Hawkey, Kristine Hawkey, Bekah Miller, Kris Wert, and Tana Garver, coach. Players not pictured include Lydia Tatman, Kris Hines, Sadie Rude, Taylor Smith and Adrean Herd.

House Numbering is Important

Kewanna-Union Twp.
Fire Department

In the event of an emergency, are your home or business address numbers visible to emergency responders? It is difficult for emergency vehicles, utility trucks, postal and delivery trucks to find homes and businesses whose address numbers are not properly posted. Firefighters, emergency vehicles and personnel may need to find your home quickly should an emergency occur. Be sure your home or business has its numbers posted and that they are clearly visible from the street. Follow these general hints to help ensure your numbers are visible:

- Use numbers at least 4" high
- Use numbers that contrast with the color of your home or business

- Post directly on your house, business or garage, by the street on a post or sign, on the mailbox, on the curb or anywhere that it can be seen from the road
- Ensure that trees or shrubs do not block the view of the numbers
- Check to see if your numbers are visible from the middle of your street/road
- Your numbers should also be visible at night.

Encourage your family, friends and neighbors to post their houses.

A clearly posted house number can save precious time should an emergency occur!

Former Resident and Head of Charity Organization Dies

Thurl Metzger, a Kosciusko County native who farmed and worked as a history teacher in Kewanna before heading Heifer International, passed away recently at his home in Little Rock, Arkansas. He was 90 years old.

Metzger began his work with Heifer International as an unpaid volunteer in 1946. Five years later, he became the group's executive director, a position he held for 30 years.

Heifer International, based in Little Rock, has provided livestock and agricultural training to people in 128 counties in an effort to end hunger and poverty. People who receive a heifer through the project are asked to give the animal's first offspring to another family, which is asked to do the same.

As Heifer's executive director,

Metzger raised money, helped train volunteers, and personally delivered livestock to war-torn and Third World countries.

Jerry Aaker, a Montana resident who worked with Metzger notes, "You have to remember back in the 50s, it wasn't a very popular time to be sending aid to Russia. He ran the program on a shoestring. He was very courageous. He would personally go over there to make sure it all went smoothly."

Metzger was the non-profit's first executive director and worked in South Korea, India, Europe and Africa, visiting 70 countries in all.

According to Aaker, they had to hire a whole staff of people to accomplish what Metzger had been doing when he retired.

The new Thurl Metzger Education Building will be dedicated tomorrow at the Heifer Ranch near Perryville.

The current president and CEO called Metzger a "true pioneer whose leadership and guidance have enabled Heifer to touch the lives of so many families and communities around the world."

Public Notice

NOTICE OF REAL PROPERTY TAX SALE

Fulton County Indiana
BEGINNING 10:00 AM, 9/13/2006
Commissioners Room TIME

STATE OF INDIANA

Fulton County

Pursuant to the laws of the Indiana General Assembly, notice is hereby given that the following described property is listed for sale for delinquent taxes and/or special assessments. The county auditor and county treasurer will apply on or after 8/25/2006 for a court judgment against the tracts or real property for an amount that is not less than the amount set out below and for an order to sell the tracts or real property at public auction to the highest bidder, subject to the right of redemption. Any defense to the application for judgment must be filed with the Fulton County CIRCUIT Court before 8/25/2006. The court will set a date for a hearing at least seven (7) days before the advertised date of sale and the court will determine any defenses to the application for judgment at the hearing. Such sale will be held 9/13/2006 at the Commissioners Room and that sale will continue until all tracts and real property have been offered for sale.

Property will not be sold for an amount which is less than the sum of:

- the delinquent taxes and special assessments on each tract or item of real property; and
- the taxes and special assessments on the real property that are due and payable in the year of the sale, whether or not they are delinquent; and
- all penalties due on the delinquencies, and
- an amount prescribed by the county auditor that equals the sum of:
 - twenty-five($25) for postage and publication costs; and
 - any other costs incurred by the county that are directly attributable to the tax sale; and
- any unpaid costs due, under subsection (b), from a prior tax sale; and

No property listed below shall be sold if, at any time before the sale, the Total Amount for Judgment is paid in full. If the real property is sold in the tax sale, the amount required to redeem such property will be 110% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, as required by IC 6-1.1-24-5 if redeemed not more than six (6) months after the date of sale, or 115% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, as required by IC 6-1.1-24-5 if redeemed more than six (6) months after the date of sale, plus the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the real property plus ten percent (10%) per annum on the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the property. All taxes and special assessments upon the property paid by the purchaser subsequent to the sale, plus 10% per annum interest on those taxes and special assessments, will also be required to be paid to redeem such property. In addition, IC 6-1.1-25-2 (e) states the total amount required for redemption may include the following costs incurred and paid by the purchaser or the purchaser's assignee or the county before redemption: (1) The attorney's fees and cost of giving notice under IC 6-1.1-25-4.5. (2) The costs of title search or examining and update the abstract of title for the tract or item of real property. The period of redemption shall expire one year from the date of sale for an initial offering. The period of redemption shall expire one hundred twenty (120) days from the date of sale for a property offered in two or more consecutive tax sales.

If the tract or item of real property is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.

The Auditor and Treasurer specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise become ineligible for sale either prior to 9/13/2006 or during the duration of the sale.

This notice of real property tax sale, and the tax sale itself are undertaken and will be conducted pursuant to the requirements of the laws of the State of Indiana which regulate the sale of land for delinquent taxes, pursuant to I.C. 6-1.1-24-1 et seq.

The Auditor's Office does not warrant the accuracy of the key numbers or street addresses published herein and any misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.

BY THE WAY.....

Wagons West

It wasn't really a wagon, just a 2000 Buick, and when we left town we headed north. Are you confused yet?

We have been trying to find the time to visit Joe's brother and sister-in-law, John and Lynette Good, ever since they relocated from the Star City area to Texas four and one-half years ago. They made the move to be near their children, Kevin and Holly Short, Hampton and Emma, and Kirk and Kathy Good.

Their schedule and ours finally matched up well enough that we were able to make the trip. We left Kewanna (headed north) about 7:45 a.m. Thursday, July 20. The reason we chose to go south by heading north was to make our way to Winamac — on to Francesville — and then south to Reynolds and US 24 to connect with I-57 over in Illinois.

When we left town, it had already started to rain and it came down really hard about halfway to Winamac, accompanied by a lot of wind. Our first stop was in Francesville for gas where we paid the highest price per gallon until we filled up on the south side of Indianapolis on our return trip.

As we left Francesville, I started one of the four books on tape I had picked up at the local library. The books made the miles fly by so much faster!

I kinda dozed about Goodland and woke up in Watseka, Illinois. So I missed our first state line. Luckily, I didn't miss enough of the story to get lost.

Actually, Watseka would make a good weekend trip if you like antiques. It's really a neat old town — lots of character.

The Illinois landscape consisted mostly of corn and soybean fields and lots of huge grain elevators everywhere you looked. I don't think their farmers have to transport their grain as far as some Hoosier farmers. It was interesting to watch the landscape change from corn and soybeans to cotton and rice.

We were needing gas again and I remembered that friend, Diane Tesler, had found gas higher in Illinois on her recent trip to Texas, so we waited until we crossed over into Missouri to gas up. Gasoline was $3.12 in Illinois and a short distance down the road at Charleston, Missouri, it was $2.79.

We decided to call it a day about 5 p.m. in Blytheville, Arkansas. It was another neat old town with a unique Main Street. You had to snake your way along the brick-laid street past deserted storefronts. Like a lot of towns, businesses have moved to the outskirts and strip malls. We stopped to take a picture of an abandoned Greyhound Station. You could just feel the history.

Too bad the old building couldn't talk!

Travel on Friday went well — not really much traffic. We took a detour into Hot Springs, Arkansas, in the afternoon thinking we might make it our stop for the night. Diane had reported golf courses and antique stores when she surveyed the area a couple of weeks ago, but we only found one golf course (a country club) and one antique store so we decided to keep heading south for awhile. We ended up in Mt. Pleasant, Texas, for the night. We located a golf course but it looked like they were hosting an outing or getting ready for one so Joe opted not to check it out. Besides, it was about 100 degrees in the shade! By this time, we had traveled about 1,000 miles.

Saturday morning, we headed on down US 271 for Flint, Texas, just south of Tyler and arrived at John's about mid-morning. (Keep in mind that Texas is in the Central Time Zone). It was raining again (or should I say still) but they really needed it. We saw several areas along the roadside that had burned off due to the dry conditions and there was a burn ban in effect in the area. The rain cooled the weather off from the low hundreds to the low nineties, so it wasn't too bad while we were there. In fact, I kept a sweater with me most of the time because everyone had their air conditioners turned down pretty low.

In the afternoon, we visited with Kirk and enjoyed the view from his gazebo and deck that he built around his swimming pool. I think Kirk inherited all of Grandpa Good's carpenter abilities. It's a cinch Joe didn't nor did our son, Jeff. We laugh because whenever anything needs repaired or replaced around Jeff's house — he watches the kids and his wife, Tonya, does the work — everything from laying a new wood laminate floor to building a patio and replacing the garbage disposal. Around our house, we just call a repairman/carpenter. It's usually much cheaper in the long run and saves Joe a lot of aggravation!

Kirk and Kathy joined us for pork chops and veggies on the grill Saturday evening and we visited until almost midnight. I don't know about Kirk and Kathy, but John, Lynette, Joe and I are not usually night owls.

Joe, John and Kirk headed for the golf course Sunday morning and Lynette and I invaded Holly's home. She and the kids (Hampton, age 8, and Emma, age 4 ½) were still trying to catch up on their sleep as they had had a later night than even ours. Holly spent Saturday at a baby shower in Dallas and did not get home until about midnight and to bed until 2:30 a.m. Her husband Kevin, who is a doctor, was in Denver, Colorado attending a medical meeting.

Lynette then took me on a tour of the Flint/Tyler area. For being a recent transplant, she is very knowledgeable of her new hometown.

Flint (population 700 according to the 2000 census) is located at the junction of FM (farm to market) roads 2868, 346 and 2493 in Smith County. The site was named for a local landowner, Robert P. Flynt in 1882 when it became a stop for the Kansas & Gulf Short Line Railroad. The post office began operation in 1887 as "Flint", when the postmaster misspelled the name on application forms. In 1890 the settlement had a general store, three cotton gins, a physician, and a population of 25. By 1902, some 100 local families were engaged in truck farming and they reportedly shipped 85 railroad cars of tomatoes, as well as large amounts of cabbage, cantaloupes and peaches. That's a lot of fruit and veggies! (We saw several peach orchards on our way into Tyler.) Flint also boasted a blacksmith shop, a telephone exchange, a telegraph service and two mercantile companies. By 1914, the population peaked at 450 and farmers in the area shipped record amounts of nursery stock, fruit and tomatoes. The town had six general stores, a bank and a newspaper. I can't image six general stores in a town that size! By 1925, the population had dropped to 200, was recorded at 150 in the 1990 census, but had risen to 700 by the 2000 census. I have a feeling there will be another big increase in inhabitants by the time the next census rolls around.

Tyler is the county seat for Smith County and is named for U.S. President John Tyler in recognition of his support for Texas' admission to the United States. As of the 2000 census, Tyler had a population of 83,650 but had a projected growth to 101,000 by 2005 making it one of the fastest growing cities in the United States. John and Lynette report about 10,000 people are relocating to Tyler every year and 100,000 people commute into Tyler daily to work.

Tyler is known as the Rose Capital of America because of its large role in the rose-growing industry; about 20% of commercial rose bushes produced in the U.S. are grown in Tyler and Smith County and more than half of the rose bushes are packaged and shipped from the area. It boasts the nation's largest municipal rose garden and hosts the Texas Rose Festival each October. In addition to its role in the rose-growing industry, Tyler is the headquarters for Brookshire Grocery Company, which operates Brookshire's and Super I Foods supermarkets in four states. Lynette is employed at the Brookshire store in Builard, just south of Flint. Tyler Pipe is one of the area's biggest employers. We drove by the facility our last day there. It covers acres and acres of ground!

After scouting the area, we returned to Holly's where I was given a tour of her beautiful new home. Then we enjoyed lunch (Mexican) and a little shopping. That evening, we met Holly and the kids for dinner at a very good cafeteria and more visiting.
